Rezoning Process and Application

What is a rezoning of property?

A rezoning is a change in the zoning classification of a specific property. A rezoning may also be called a Map Amendment as it is an amendment to the City's Official Zoning Map.

Who can initiate a rezoning request?

A rezoning may be initiated by the City Commission, Planning Commission, or by the owner or owners of the property which is the subject of the proposed rezoning.

What standards are applied in reviewing a rezoning request?

The following standards are applied:

- a. Consistency with the goals, policies and Future Land Use Map of the City of Munising Master Plan, including any subarea or corridor studies. If conditions have changed since the City of Munising Master Plan was adopted, the consistency with recent development trends in the area.
- b. Compatibility of the site's physical, geological, hydrological and other environmental features with the potential uses allowed in the proposed zoning district.
- c. Evidence the applicant cannot receive a reasonable return on investment through developing the property with one (1) of the uses permitted under the current zoning.
- d. The compatibility of all the potential uses allowed in the proposed zoning district with surrounding uses and zoning in terms of land suitability, impacts on the environment, density, nature of use, traffic impacts, aesthetics, infrastructure, and potential influence on property values.
- e. The capacity of city infrastructure and services sufficient to accommodate the uses permitted in the requested district without compromising the "health, safety and welfare" of the City.
- f. The apparent demand for the types of uses permitted in the requested zoning district in the City in relation to the amount of land in the City currently zoned to accommodate the demand.
- g. Where a rezoning is reasonable given the above criteria, a determination shall be made that the requested zoning district is more appropriate than another district or amending the list of permitted or special land uses within a district.
